ESCAMBIA COUNTY HISTORY BOOKS ARE HERE!

The second printing of "A History of Escambia County" by Annie C. Waters has been completed, and the books have been delivered. President M. D. Huff announces that as soon as the books can be looked over and price set for this edition, we will let you know. We are keeping names of people who have ordered a copy and will inform you of price as soon as possible.

WRONG DAY ON CALENDAR

We hope no one has been inconvenienced by the wrong day of the week noted as our meeting time on the Community Calendar in the Brewton Standard, which notes Wednesday as our meeting day. Remember, we always meet on the fourth Tuesday of the month, unless otherwise noted. Exception - In December, our annual Christmas party is held early in the month.

WHEN WRITING TO THE SOCIETY

Caroline Liles, Corresponding Secretary, asks us to announce that the Society can only offer answers to questions that are readily available. If research is requested, please remember, we have only volunteer workers, and can only recommend sources which you may search for answers to your questions. Caroline asks that you please send a stamped, self-addressed envelope if your question calls for an answer. Queries are printed free in our quarterlies.

GOOD LUCK, JOHN HOOMES!

It was so good to talk to a junior member of our Society, John Hoomes, who is now a student at Troy State University. John continues to pursue his hobby of hunting for artifacts and the history his findings relate to. You will remember that John gave a program for the Society a couple of years ago and showed some of his artifacts found in this area. His enthusiasm is great, and we wish him good luck in his endeavors!
