We appreciate all of the work and planning this Committee has done. They are working hard to make a fun and happy time for all of us, and I know that all will enjoy it.

A PRAYER

LORD, remind me now and then:

That I am only as important as others find me to be, not as I think I am.

That I am judged by my deeds, not my intentions.

That others will not remember my good deeds as long as I remember them, so that if I mean to be known as good, I must continue to do good.

That everyone else does not think of me as much as I think of myself.

That everyone else does not find me as indispensable as I find myself.

That everyone I disappoint will remember the disappointment much longer than I prefer to remember it.

That the image other people see of me is not very much like the image I see of myself in the mirror

That I can hurt other people by mere neglect and omission.

That people who do not remember me on special days will remember if I fail to remember them on special days.

I know that it is not always fair, Lord, but remind me that it is the way it is. Amen
